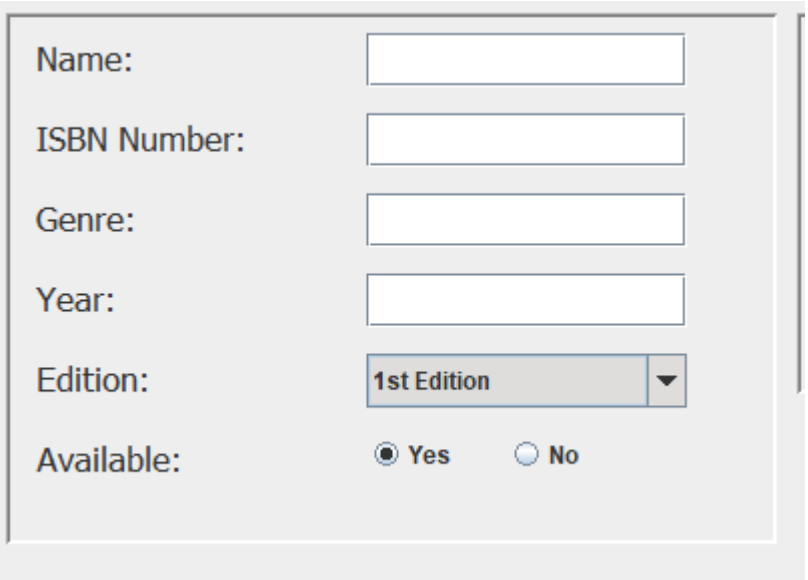
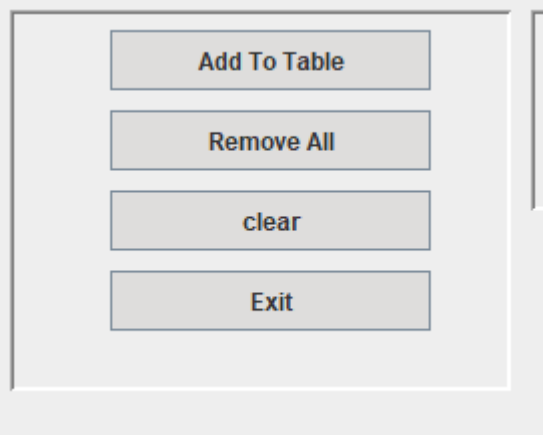
USER GUIDE FOR THE SYSTEM

1.ITERACTIVE MODE



The above table displays the user interface of the user. The values that are stored in this table is later updated on information table. The name textbox takes book name as input, ISBN number textbox takes ISBN number of the books, Genre textbox takes different genre of the book and the year textbox takes the published year of the book. The edition combo box allows the user to select the edition of the book. And, the available radio buttons allows the user to check the availability of the book.

2. BUTTONS



The above figure consists of group of buttons that allows the user to interact with the program. Add to Table button allows the user to take the values and display the following output in the table. Remove All button allows the user to remove the data displayed in the table. The Clear button allows the user to erase all the data from user interactive mode and the exit function completes the process of closing the program.

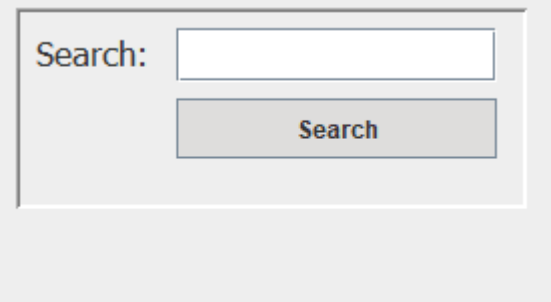
TABLE

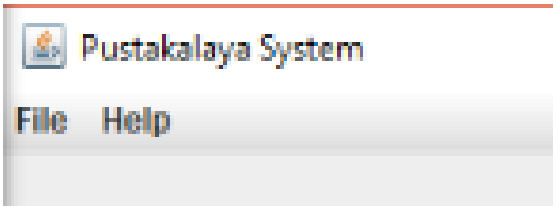
The above table displays the value entered by the user in systematic order as represented by the table. The table also displays the searched value, when searched using search button.

SEARCH



The above table allows the user in searching the value on the basis of price, that has been entered from the user interactive mode.

MENU BAR



This above figure shows the menu bar of the system where you can find user guide in the help section.